

What is a Population Projection?

Looking Towards the Future

Projections

- A projection is a conditional statement - if COVID vaccinations in Chicago's Austin neighborhood continue at their February rate, it will take 10 months for the eligible neighborhood population to be vaccinated.
- A projection does not include an assessment of the likelihood of the underlying assumption - projections are largely technical exercises.