

Projections versus Forecasts

The case against projections

- Overuse of poor, technically produced projections
- A focus on projections within planning has ceded forecasting to other fields - planning has ceded its claim to think (in compelling ways) about the future
- Failure to criticize theory and models that underly projections or their assumptions

What are the Components of Population Change?

