

The Possibilities of Planning

Planning is the process of...

- Looking backward at what we can learn from experience
- Looking around at what we can learn from observation
- Looking forward to see where we are going

Forecasts help us to define likely scenarios for the future. We base our forecasts off of projections.

What is a Population Projection?

